

If I recall, the mandate of the FCC regarding ownership of all media is that they serve the interests of the public, especially concerning diversity. Allowing more and more concentration of ownership and less and less diversity is not in the interests of the public. It is only the interests of mega-corporations and is totally undemocratic.